Don't Send It: The Real Costs of Dangerous Mail & Counterfeit Postage -- Headlines about the criminal misuse of the U.S. postal system often focus on illegal drugs and narcotics sent through the mailstream. But prohibited "dangerous mail," which includes firearms, poisons, and explosives, also poses a serious threat to customers and mail handlers across the postal ecosystem. And a lesser-known threat to the nation's postal system is the use of counterfeit postage, which defrauds the Postal Service of vital revenue and affects the bottom line of every business that transacts through the mail. This presentation discusses recent crime trends involving dangerous mail items and counterfeit postage and offers actionable steps attendees can take to better protect their employees, customers, and profit margins. Presented by: Gary Barksdale, Chief Postal Inspector, United States Postal Service

8:45-9:45 am Morning Keynote: Harnessing AI's Power in Mail and Distribution

This panel presentation will provide a comprehensive introduction to integrating Artificial Intelligence (AI) technologies within corporate mail, print, and delivery operations. Participants will learn how AI can streamline workflows, optimize resource allocation, enhance security, and improve overall efficiency in document handling and delivery processes. Attendees will be equipped with actionable strategies to leverage AI for transforming traditional operational practices and driving innovation in their organizations.

10:00-11:00am Mid-Morning Keynote: How To Outsource Your Corporate Mailroom

Corporate mailrooms weren't built for remote work, compliance risk, or the pace of modern operations. This keynote explores why more organizations are moving away from traditional in-house mail processing and toward outsourced digital mailroom models and how doing so transforms processing time, data security, visibility, and employee productivity. Learn what a modern outsourced mailroom looks like, how the process generally works end-to-end, and what key outcomes leading organizations are achieving. Presented by: Bill Becker, CEO, Recordsforce
